

HLTAID003 Provide First Aid

and

HLTAID001 Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation

Bailey Training

Excellence in Training

Program Overview

This program describes the skills and knowledge required to provide first aid in line with the Australian Resuscitation Guidelines (ARC).

Each course consists of both, HLTAID001 and HLTAID003. The program applies to all persons who may be required to perform first aid within a number of settings, including the workplace. Changes to WHS limit CPR qualifications to 12 months, this program caters for the annual renewal.

Program Content

This program will include training in:

- Responding to emergency situations,
- Performing CPR procedures, and
- Communicating a handover to paramedics

Program Outcomes

Participants will be able to demonstrate their competence in a number of areas, including the following:

- Legal issues and infection control
- DRSABCD action plan
- Managing the unconscious, breathing patient
- Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) - Adult & Infant
- Choking assessment and more
